

Sauther, M. L., Cuozzo, F. P., Youssof Jacky, I. A., Fish, K. D., LaFleur, M., Ravelohasindrazana, L. A. L. and Ravoavy, J. F. 2013. Limestone cliff-face and cave use by wild ring-tailed lemurs (Lemur catta) in southwestern Madagascar. Madagascar Conservation & Development 8, 2: 73–80. <http://dx.doi.org.104314/mcd.v8i2.5> Supplementary Material.

Figure S1. Lemur from the Akao troop in Casuarina equisetifolia tree on lake margin (A) and within the marshy ferns of Acrostichum aureum at the base of these trees (B) at Tsimanampesotse National Park, 2006.

Figure S2. Lemurs from the Grotte de Binabe troop on the cliff-face at Tsinjoriake Protected Area.

Sauther, M. L., Cuozzo, F. P., Youssof Jacky, I. A., Fish, K. D., LaFleur, M., Ravelohasindrazana, L. A. L. and Ravoavy, J. F. 2013. Limestone cliff-face and cave use by wild ring-tailed lemurs (Lemur catta) in southwestern Madagascar. Madagascar Conservation & Development 8, 2: 73–80. <http://dx.doi.org.104314/mcd.v8i2.5> Supplementary Material.

Figure S3. Cave above Sarodrano peninsula where the “Sarodrano” troop sometimes sleeps.

Sauther, M. L., Cuozzo, F. P., Youssof Jacky, I. A., Fish, K. D., LaFleur, M., Ravelohasindrazana, L. A. L. and Ravoavy, J. F. 2013. Limestone cliff-face and cave use by wild ring-tailed lemurs (Lemur catta) in southwestern Madagascar. Madagascar Conservation & Development 8, 2: 73–80. <http://dx.doi.org.104314/mcd.v8i2.5> Supplementary Material.

Figure S4. Tsinjoriake. Spiny forest habitat at Tsinjoriake. The arrow is pointing at a tree that is 2 m. tall.

Sauther, M. L., Cuozzo, F. P., Youssof Jacky, I. A., Fish, K. D., LaFleur, M., Ravelohasindrazana, L. A. L. and Ravoavy, J. F. 2013. Limestone cliff-face and cave use by wild ring-tailed lemurs (Lemur catta) in southwestern Madagascar. Madagascar Conservation & Development 8, 2: 73–80. <http://dx.doi.org.104314/mcd.v8i2.5> Supplementary Material.

Figure S5. I Love troop ring-tailed lemurs huddling in a "lemur ball" on limestone rocks after leaving sleeping caves at Tsimanampesotse National Park.